
DSST: Byers has a policy on dress and is crafted with the following beliefs in mind:

1. Respect: We are proud that our Mission leads us to create integrated schools. People grow more when they are working with and getting to know people who are different from them and, therefore, have unique perspectives. We want to celebrate this diversity while recognizing that each culture and each individual has a different view on how students should dress. We have crafted a Policy on Dress that we believe allows students to express their individuality while still respecting the diverse beliefs and values of everyone in our community.

2. Community and Inclusiveness: Our Uniform Policy and Dress Code gives us a commonality that allows students to identify as members of this community while still expressing their individuality. It is our belief that this dress code will allow people inside and outside of the community to recognize our commonalities while celebrating our differences.

3. Transparency Regarding Impact of Appearance: Appearance matters, and people make assumptions about other people based on what people are wearing (this is reality even if we would wish it to be otherwise). Our Uniform Policy and Dress Code is constructed to promote the practice of intentionally dressing for various situations and environments (understanding context).

4. Safety: We are committed to student safety and have crafted a Policy on Dress that reflects necessary safety requirements and ensures that all students feel physically and psychologically safe in our environment.
